People of Truth in a World of Lies

Our home receives dozens of telephone solicitations to contribute to charities, political groups and various vendors who begin by saying, "We are not trying to sell you anything." Sometimes they ask me, "How are you Mr. Lieske?" On occasion I actually answer the question. I remember an incident after I had experienced an injection in my eye for a chronic condition. I replied by describing the procedure and the pain. The solicitor became empathetic, confused and forgot what he was selling. We had a nice conversation.

We live in a world of lies. The product is advertised as "free" but there is often a large postage and handling charge. The politician says, "You can keep your doctor." (But you can't.) The sales lady says, "That dress looks great on you!" (And it doesn't.) The store advertises 50% off! (But inflates the original price.) The Publix clerk asks, "how are you?" You feel terrible but you say, "Fine," and add "How are you!" (Not really caring or even what their answer might be.)

On one occasion a clerk asked me how I was, and I replied "Thankful." That comment opened up a meaningful dialogue. The other day a clerk shared with me, "That man just tried to scam me." I replied that there are a lot of lies in the world, but that "Jesus is the way, the truth and the life."

She said "Yes He is, but a lot of people don't know it." For me that was a brief experience of koinonia, the "communion of saints," the affirmation of a common bond in Jesus Christ. Precious, because the truth was told.

Telling the truth (and, yes, there are times when we should be silent) opens up meaningful conversation, builds trust, facilitates healing and imitates God — who cannot lie (Hebrews 6:8). Sometimes we know the truth but we are silent, fearing social censure.

Martin Luther King, Jr., an exceptional truth-teller, once remarked, "In the end we will remember not the words of our enemies, but the silence of our friends." Benjamin Franklin in Poor Richard's Almanac said it differently: "As we must account for every idle Word, so we must for every idle Silence."

Powerful statement! As Christians, followers of the Christ, God expects us not to be silent but to speak the truth in love. This improves our relationships. Furthermore, there are issues that we should address today such as the persecution of Christians and Jews and the rights of the unborn. We speak out for the unborn because God tells us, "Rescue those being led away to death, hold back those staggering toward slaughter..." (Proverbs 24:11-12) We speak the truth about false religions and harmful ideas even though it makes us uncomfortable.

As "truth tellers" we cannot but help to identify those who deceive — and warn others in the same way that the Good Shepherd, Jesus, warns His flock and protects them from the wolf. "I lay down My life for the sheep." (John 10:15)

One of the great wolves of our time is the false political-religious ideology of Islam which steals, kills, destroys and deceives. Indeed, the Koran says of Allah — "Allah is the greatest deceiver." (Koran 3:54 and 8:30) And from this "truth" about Allah comes the Islamic concept of taqiyya, the mandate for Muslims to lie to non-Muslims if it advances the cause of Allah.

What then is our mandate? It is to share Him, who is the "way, the truth and the life" in order to liberate the Muslim and any who worship a false god from darkness and deception. The word "truth" occurs 228 times in the NIV Bible.

Lies enslave. Truth brings liberty. Jesus said it. "You will know the truth and the truth will set you free." (John 3:32).

We are people of truth in a world of lies. ■

Recently, at the Veterans of the Cross Retreat, I heard our own Pastor Bob Steinke do an excellent Bible Study on the Selah in the Psalms. The power of music is really incredible isn't it? It has the power to etch into our minds memories and situations, both positive and negative. Music can be soothing, or it can challenge and convict us. It can entertain us. It can bring a smile to our face or tears to our eyes. Even the most rhythmically challenged of us can't help but move to certain sounds.

For me, Christmas music will always evoke special memories. I love all music, but Christmas music is especially uplifting for me. However, I would have to be honest to say that running a close second is the music of Easter.

I remember years ago struggling to plan Easter worship. The difficulty certainly wasn't the subject matter — there was plenty to celebrate. My challenge was to choose hymns. We have such beautiful Lutheran hymns about the resurrection of Jesus, and I wanted to use them all.

Two hymns I typically included — two of my favorites — were "I Know That My Redeemer Lives" and "Jesus Christ is Risen Today!" Those always brought me back to my childhood, when Easter was such a special celebration, and there was just an atmosphere of excitement and anticipation in the air all around our church.

In those days, we almost always got new Easter outfits. At the risk of oversharing, I still remember the Easter I had blue gingham houndstooth pants with blue suede platform shoes. I now see what a regrettable choice that may have been . . . but seriously . . . it was the 70s!

We Waltons celebrated Easter early this year. In February we had one of those feared middle-of-the-night calls announcing that Edith's mother had a severe stroke. Only hours before Edith had been on the phone talking to her mother and everything was normal. In a split second life changed.

As we drove to North Georgia we were preparing for the worst, and didn't quite know if she would even be alive. She pulled through, but the next few weeks were a roller coaster of emotions as we watched her make progress and then take a turn for the worse.

In His wisdom, God provided the healing that only He alone can bring. It's the ultimate healing as she was set free and Beverly Adams went home to be with Jesus. And we celebrated the power of the resurrection.

The powerful words of the Apostle Paul, words I've proclaimed over the years, have taken on a whole new meaning for me this Easter season. Paul writes in 1 Corinthians 15:51-56: Listen, I tell you a mystery: We will not all sleep, but we will all be changed — in a flash, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, the dead will be raised imperishable, and we will be changed. For the perishable must clothe itself with the imperishable, and the mortal with immortality.

The Waltons celebrating the marriage of Tim & Megan Walton. Beverly Adams is shown between Edith and Beverly's husband George. This December they would have celebrated 60 years of marriage. Between the bride and Greg are Alex & Angie Walton.

When the perishable has been clothed with the imperishable, and the mortal with immortality, then the saying that is written will come true: "Death has been swallowed up in victory." "Where, O death, is your victory? Where, O death, is your sting?" The sting of death is sin, and the power of sin is the law. But thanks be to God! He gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

The death of Edith's mother, and any Christian's death, isn't the end. It's really the beginning of a life without end in a whole new way. We have a chance, amidst the mourning, to witness our faith in the victory of Jesus. Because He lives we believe we will live also. I found in that moment, all the lovely truths I've learned and taught about our Christian faith and the promise of the resurrection became more than theoretical or doctrinal. Somehow, they became more real for us.

We know, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that we can trust God in the face of our loss. It doesn't take away the sting of death, but it is such a great comfort to know that death is only the gateway to new life with Jesus.

I realize that many who are reading this have, or are, experiencing similar circumstances. Let the true message of Easter speak to your heart. Listen to the music and the words of the hymns that assure us of our victory.

Hear the words of the Gospel, as Jesus tells us in John 11:25, I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in Me will live, even though he dies; and whoever lives and believes in Me will never die.

Certainly these are words for the whole Church, but they are also words for YOU! Jesus makes this promise to each of us individually. Because of our faith in Jesus through His grace, despite our sinfulness, despite our unworthiness, we have this great promise and hope of new life. We may no longer occupy space on this planet, but we will most assuredly live forever. The truth of our Easter celebration is that we no longer need to fear death and the grave. We now live in the reality of a sure and certain eternity because of the resurrection of Jesus.

Celebrating Easter All Year Long

The Power of Music

I know that life will be different, especially for Edith, her siblings and her father, George, with the absence of her mother. She was a godly, kind and loving woman, who cared for her family, and was constant in prayer for her family and friends. The Psalmist wrote, Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of His saints.

Edith and I know that she was a dedicated, precious child of God who now rejoices at His throne. We take great comfort in this, especially as we celebrate Easter.

One of my favorite communion hymns proclaims: Easter triumph, Easter joy! This alone can sin destroy; From sin's power, Lord, set us free, Newborn souls in you to be. Alleluia! We rejoice in the resurrection.

May our lives be lived for His glory, as we rejoice in this past Easter . . . and with all the Easters before us, and in life or death, may we live to connect people to Jesus, our hope, comfort and joy!

Living in His Promise!

Convention Delegates to Elect Leaders, Consider Direction, Gather for Worship, Fellowship

Pastor and lay delegates from Florida-Georgia congregations will gather in Orlando from June 12-14 under the theme “Engaged in the Master’s Business” for the 32nd Regular District Convention.

“It will be a great opportunity to be recharged for our tasks of equipping, empowering and engaging to connect people to Jesus.”

New this year is a Convention Ingathering to benefit Stepping Stones Mission of Atlanta and Redeeming Life Outreach Ministries of Sanford. Congregations are being asked to collect items and conduct a special offering in advance of the Convention to present to the two ministries on Sunday morning.

“This Ingathering will provide a visual to the Convention theme of ‘Engaged in the Master’s Business,’” Walton said.

Convention Ingathering to Benefit

A new element is being added to the Florida-Georgia District Convention this year — an ingathering to one ministry in Georgia and one in Florida. Selected for this first-time outreach are Stepping Stones Homeless Mission of Greater Atlanta and Redeeming Life Maternity Home of Sanford.

Backpacks, shoulder bags and fanny packs are being collected for Stepping Stones Mission — so the homeless can use them to carry their personal belongings. Redeeming Life is requesting onesies, newborns to 12 months, and diapers sizes 1, 2 or 3. Congregations are asked to gather donations to send to the Convention with their pastor and lay delegate.

Stepping Stones Mission

Launched in July of 2009 as an outreach to the homeless, Stepping Stones Mission is dedicated to sharing the good news of Jesus Christ. Under the leadership of Rev. Joseph Song, the ministry provides the homeless with food and basic necessities — and “help along the way toward rehabilitation, the healing of one’s life and stability,” said Song.

Florida, Georgia Ministries

Volunteers from area Lutheran churches help build bridges into the faith community for the homeless, poor and needy. Strategic programs include meal service; homeless leader training; youth experience program; after-school for homeless kids; rehabilitation and spiritual training.

Song also leads outdoor worship experiences to reach the homeless.

“Our vision is to be a caring, loving, growing community of Christians who preach the Gospel, teach God’s Word and extend the compassion of Christ to the homeless of Atlanta so that people can be identified, built up and unified in the body of Christ,” he said.

For more information about the ministry, visit steppingstonemission.net.

Redeeming Life Outreach Ministries

Founded by Rev. Ed and Sheryl DeWitt, Redeeming Life provides a safe, nurturing, Christ-centered home for single expectant mothers in crisis.

“We love and support them and their unborn children,” said Sheryl DeWitt, Redeeming Life’s Executive Director. “Our hope is that lives will be saved for now and eternity.”

Resident Director Rachel Woolery meets one-on-one with residents each week. During their stay, residents learn about time management, parenting and financial literacy. They receive regular prenatal care and are expected to work of volunteer if they are not yet able to get a job.

More than a dozen women in the midst of crisis pregnancies have lived at Redeeming Life since it opened in November of 2013. The first baby was welcomed into the home in July of 2014 and baptized by Pastor DeWitt at Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, which is located across the street from the maternity home. Three more babies were welcomed this spring.

Financial Workshop Geared to Teens, Parents

Thrivent Financial representatives Katherine Kyle and Rebecca Lester led a recent workshop on Parents, Teens, and Money Matters for Deland High School.

Chris Dowdell, Volusia County Schools Teacher of the Year 2016, is an American economics teacher at Deland High School who teaches his students about money through The Budget Project. This is an educational program that was developed by Dowdell to assist his students with the basic understanding of budgeting, interest rates, debt and investments throughout the school year.

Dowdell saw the need to reach the parents of his students and asked Thrivent Financial to get involved. Thrivent hosted a workshop called Parents, Teens, and Money Matters. Only three classrooms participated, and Dowdell said he was stunned they had almost 100% participation for the Tuesday night workshop held at Deland High School. More than 200 people were in attendance.

The free educational workshop was designed for parents and their teens and helps increase understanding of stewardship, discusses making intentional choices about sharing, saving and spending money, and helps parents learn new ways to talk to their teens about money and values as a family. It was led by Rebecca Lester and Katherine Kyle, Thrivent Financial representatives of Ormond Beach. ■

Fourth Consecutive Year

Thrivent Named a 'World's Most Ethical Company' by Ethisphere Institute

Thrivent Financial has been recognized by the Ethisphere Institute, the global leader in defining and advancing the standards of ethical business practices, as a 2015 World's Most Ethical Company.

The World's Most Ethical Companies designation recognizes organizations that have had a material impact on the way business is conducted by fostering a culture of ethics and transparency at every level of the company.

Being a four-year honoree underscores Thrivent's commitment to leading ethical business standards and practices ensuring long-term value to key stakeholders including customers, employees, suppliers, regulators and investors. Thrivent is one of only four companies in the Financial Services category honored this year.

"Conducting our business according to highest ethical standards is what our membership expects, and we strive to meet those expectations," says Teresa Rasmussen, senior vice president, general counsel and secretary for Thrivent. "Being named to this prestigious list for the fourth year in a row is a wonderful acknowledgment of our commitment to business ethics." "The World's Most Ethical Companies embrace the correlation between ethical business practice and improved company performance," said Ethisphere's Chief Executive Officer, Timothy Erlich. "These companies use ethics as a means to further define their industry leadership and understand that creating an ethical culture and earning the World's Most Ethical Companies recognition involves more than just an outward facing message or a handful of senior executives saying the right thing.

"Earning this recognition involves the collective action of sampling of definitive criteria of core competencies, rather than all aspects of corporate governance, risk, sustainability, compliance and ethics.

Scores are generated in five key categories: ethics and compliance program (35%), corporate citizenship and responsibility (20%), culture of ethics (20%), governance (15%) and leadership, innovation and reputation (10%).

a global workforce from the top down. We congratulate everyone at Thrivent for this extraordinary achievement."

The World's Most Ethical Company assessment is based upon the Ethisphere Institute's Ethics Quotient framework developed over years of research to provide a means to assess an organization's performance in an objective, consistent and standardized way. The information collected provides a comprehensive

Hockey Team Honors Chris Card

The Tampa Bay Lightning honored Chris Card, COO of Lutheran Services Florida, as the 32nd Lightning Community Hero of the season during the first period of the March 5 game against the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Card received a $50,000 donation from the Lightning Foundation and the Lightning Community Heroes program that he donated to LSF.

Over the past two decades, Card has been trailblazing initiatives to improve child welfare. He is noted for leading the State of Florida through restructuring the former child welfare system toward the current Community Based Care model, in which services of child welfare are transferred to community non-profit agencies. This integration has produced many notable results for abused and neglected children, including significantly increased adoptions.

LSF is a statewide, non-profit, human services agency dedicated to helping all people regardless of religious affiliation, age or national origin. LSF is based in Tampa and has more than 60 programs throughout the state of Florida.

Since its establishment in 1982, nearly 900,000 children and families have received assistance from LSF's vital services. ■

LSG Helps Provide Bikes for Refugees

During the first months after arriving in the United States, refugees often express a need for reliable transportation to attend English and employment classes, shop for groceries, visit friends and commute to school and medical appointments.

“Even clients with a good grasp of the English language need a few months to prepare for and complete Georgia’s driving test,” said Taryn Arbeiter, Lutheran Services of Georgia Matching Grant Coordinator for Refugee and Immigration Services. “It can take several months or even years for refugees to save enough money to buy a car.”

In response to the call for better transportation, LSG partnered with Sopo Bicycle Cooperative volunteer Patrick Davis to connect newly arrived refugees with refurbished bicycles. Sopo and LSG held two Saturday workshops in Atlanta’s Grant Park neighborhood.

“We opened the opportunity to eight current clients, with a special focus on women and children,” Arbeiter said.

Several LSG staff and volunteers donated their time for the workshops, which included a short service project to help organize the Sopo bike shop and repair tire tubes. Volunteers assisted clients in cleaning and making adjustments to their refurbished bikes – and used a nearby cul-de-sac to teach two clients how to ride a bike.

The workshops ended with a safety presentation, teaching clients about traffic laws and equipping them with helmets and bike lights. At the end of the workshops, every participant found a bike to take home.

“Equally important, every client, volunteer and staff person had the opportunity to practice English, share stories and laughter and forge new, supportive relationships,” Arbeiter said. ■

LWML Mites Donations Pass $100 Million Mark!

The Lutheran Women’s Missionary League reached a staggering and inspiring milestone recently — donating more than $100 million to missions in its 73-year history.

Since its establishment, the LWML has focused on supporting global missions, affirming each member’s relationship with Christ and equipping women to live out their Christian lives in active mission ministries.

In the Florida-Georgia District, mission grant funding is ongoing. Among the recent check presentations were:

- Food of Life Food Pantry at Lutheran Church of the Redeemer / Melbourne FL.
- Food bank of Concordia Seminary / St. Louis.

For more information about Florida-Georgia LWML activities, visit the newly redesigned website – flgalwml.com – or visit the organizational page on Facebook. ■

LWML National, District Calendars Remain Busy

“We have so much going on in the LWML right now both on the national and the District levels,” emphasizes Joan Koch, District Vice President Communications. “On the national level we have a convention in Des Moines, IA, in June. Not only will we be voting on numerous items, we will also be receiving a new mite goal.”

As of January 31, 2015, LWML has collected $1,513,892.57 in mites. “What a phenomenal amount of mites!” Koch states.

Have you registered for the convention? It is so easy to do. You simply go online and register or download the registration form, fill it out and send it in.

“In our District LWML we have much going on as well,” she continues. “We are looking into using online registration for retreats and conventions. Our fall retreat will be in September at the Sirata Beach Resort, and we hope to be able to offer online registration for the first time ever. More information on the retreat will be forthcoming shortly.”

In the next issue of the Evangel there will be retreat registration forms. Donna Pyle will be the guest speaker. Pyle’s recent book, Quenched, has been nominated as one of Christian Retailing’s Best books in women’s non-fiction.

“LWML is very excited to have Donna Pyle at the retreat,” Koch continues, “and we hope to have great participation from our members.”

The LWML will be an exhibitor at the Florida-Georgia LCMS District Convention in Orlando in June. Koch is encouraging pastors, teachers and lay people to stop by the booth and say hello.

The LWML offers 15 scholarships ranging from $500 to $2,000 to full-time church worker students. Love Gifts are also available. The Florida-Georgia District supports ALL the students (who apply) enrolled in full-time church work at the colleges and seminaries of the Concordia University System.

Deadline for applications to be submitted is June 1. For more information visit <http://flgadistrict.org/2015-student-aid-and-scholarship-applications/>. ■

College — and What to Do About It

by Mary Rowley, Campus Missionary at Florida State

Parents, it's that time of year again. Your high school seniors are deciding where to go to college. Through the tears, you're wondering: What now? How can I continue shaping my child's life when he or she is hundreds of miles away? There's a course of action for grades or teachers who take attendance. They are bombarded with new-ness on every side, and with this new-ness comes exposure to people with new morals. From professors to counselors to "besties" met in the hallway, everyone has a different opinion.

How will your child deal with this astonishing amount of change, you ask?

By sticking with the One who is the same yesterday, today and forever. Your child will need to find the Constant, and He is found in campus ministry. So here's your course of action: find the campus ministry at your child's school of choice by checking lcms.org/lcmsU. (If they're going to Florida State, University Lutheran is the place to be!)

Tell your child about the campus ministry, and tell the campus ministry about your child. Do this before they even leave your front door! And after they leave, do it again, because college students are not known for their memories. While they're away, maintain the connection you have with them. Remind them that they're on your mind and in their prayers.

The more reminders of Jesus they have, the more likely they will be to seek Him out through campus ministry.

Those are just the basics... you've got it from there. And remember — through the change of your suddenly empty nest, Jesus is your Constant too. ■ you, but before I describe it, it's important for you to have some context.

College explained in one word is this: change!

Freshmen especially experience change in abundance. They move away from home into a small dorm room often with a random roommate. They no longer have a curfew or someone checking their

Consistent Follow up Key in Connecting People to Jesus

Pastor Brian Kneser of Woodlands/Montverde, FL, recently spoke to me about how the Outreach Initiative impacted his congregation. Woodlands was among the first District churches to join the Outreach Initiative.

Pastor Kneser said, "Woodlands has taken connecting people to Jesus through consistent follow up seriously. We believe that every name that we received was a soul that God had entrusted to us.

"We made a conscientious effort to follow up on every visitor, every pre-school family, especially those with unbaptized children. We followed up on every name we had a lead on!"

The results of this effort are that 51 new members were recognized at Woodlands on January 25, and the congregation has already identified 20 more people to follow up with.

According to Pastor Kneser, Woodlands followed up on each lead until "they joined, died or told us to stop."

Woodlands had three adult baptisms, four child baptisms and several professions of faith included with the 51 new members. This God-led follow up effort at Woodlands includes:

- ✓ establishment of a detailed database, keeping records with meticulous notes on each visit so that personalized information could be shared on subsequent visits to build ongoing relationships;
- ✓ holding the 10 lesson Adult Information course "I Have Good News for You" to build on the strong relationship that had already been established in worship, visitor follow up, home visits and letters;
- ✓ follow up expanded to include phone calls, emails and tracking worship attendance to see if visitors were returning.

Asked how the congregation is responding with all these new members, Pastor Kneser responded, "They are sitting in 'my pew,' the parking lot is too full and communion is taking a long time! But we really are EXCITED!"

"This is a wonderful atmosphere — focusing, as a congregation on outreach in everything we do."

Through consistent follow up with each lead Woodlands connected people to Jesus. Imagine what God can do in your church through consistent follow up! ■

Adult Small Group Study Celebrates Foundations of Faith

Amazing Grace /Oxford, FL, is using the "God Connects" adult course developed by Lutheran Hour Ministries for the Outreach Initiative in nine small groups.

This video course celebrates the foundations of our faith for those who are already Christians and lays the groundwork for those who do not yet know Christ as Lord and Savior. Amazing Grace has approximately 97 people the classes plus an additional 15-20 who were already part of other small groups. Training is broken up into two six-week courses and is happening mostly in home settings.

"Sermons are tied to the God Connects topic of the week," said Pastor James Rockey. "We want them to hear the same message a few different ways."

By using this approach both small groups and the congregation are focused on the same topic. Using this method encourages participants to ask questions and explore the topic further, giving depth to discipleship efforts.

Amazing Grace has an extensive, exciting outreach culture. I have worshipped with this vibrant and welcoming congregation – you just know God is there! Outreach examples include:

- ✓ The congregation set a goal of collecting 4886 – the church street address – food items for the local food pantry.
- ✓ A task force is exploring establishing an Early Childhood Center to reach out to the families with young children.
- ✓ Leading VBS in the Park, billed as a mini VBS for 3.5 hours with Bible study, crafts, games and a meal.

The Outreach Initiative is in the implementation phase where we see congregations, such as Amazing Grace, implementing the training and tools they have at their disposal, even making up their own. Thank you, Amazing Grace and Pastor Rockey, for sharing your story! We hope others will do the same. May others be blessed by what you are doing. ■

Concordia College Alabama hosted its third annual Civil Rights Symposium March 1-8 in conjunction with the 50th anniversary of the 1965 Selma-Montgomery civil rights marches.

During the "Recollections of '65" segment, former leaders and participants of the 1965 Civil Rights Movement recounted their experiences from 50 years ago. Among the speakers were Rev. Dr. Frederick Douglas Reese, who had a large part in organizing the marches and worked closely with Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and The Honorable James Perkins, Jr., the first African-American mayor of Selma.

Others who shared their experiences were Diane Harris, who participated in one of the 1965 marches while attending Alabama Lutheran Academy (now Concordia College Alabama), and John Ballard, a white supporter from New York who traveled to Selma to join in the fight for civil rights.

On March 25, close to 300 people gathered on the Concordia College New York campus to commemorate the historic 54-mile marches from Selma to Montgomery. Participants included Concordia College students, administrators, faculty, and staff; students from The Chapel School; clergy from local churches; and local civic leaders, including Bronxville Mayor Mary Marvin and Mount Vernon Mayor Ernest Davis. ■

Faith's Rockin' Robots Compete in 2015 FIRST FTC World Championships

While FIRST Robotics FTC competitions are primarily for high school students, Faith Lutheran/Marietta Middle School's Rockin' Robots earned a place at the 2015 FIRST Tech Challenge World Championships in St. Louis in April. It's the first such trip in the team's three-year existence.

FIRST (For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology) Tech Challenge was established as a community focused on building a better world for tomorrow by engaging students in Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM).

After competing in the Georgia FTC State Championship in February, the Rockin' Robots finished as an alternate to go to the Super Regional FTC match and Ethan Schaag, 13, both 8th grade; and JP Westin, 11, 6th grade. Honors this season include the Inspire Award at the FTC Qualifier and 2nd Place in the Think Award Category at the Georgia FTC State Championship.

An estimated 44,500 students on 4,450 teams around the world will participate in the 2014/2015 FTC season. The FIRST FTC Championship is the culmination of the season's FIRST program, bringing together 128 teams from around the world and 100 teams from the four Super Regions in the United.

Students program their robots to operate in both autonomous and driver-controlled modes on a specially designed field. The object of the 2014-2015 game is to score more points than an opponent by placing balls into rolling goals and then moving goals into scoring areas. Points can also be awarded when balls are shot into a center goal. ■

The Rockin' Rockets won seven out of eight matches at the Super Regional Tournament, and went on to captain an alliance in the Semi-Final matches. They were the only Middle School team to make it that far in the FTC South Super Regional Championships. Winning so many matches against stiff competition earned the Faith students a spot at April's FTC World Championship.

Milestone Anniversary, Media Splash Highlight Year for All Saints

Members of All Saints / Blairsville are gearing up to celebrate the congregation's 25th Anniversary in November. Along with the upcoming festivities, the church has been re-vamping and creating new outlets to reach the community and beyond.

The new initiatives began last year and included a new website and Facebook presence, which has been collecting "likes" from as far away as Thailand and South Africa.

A YouTube channel was launched to showcase Take2, a new video mini-series that is a continuing discussion about the previous week's sermon and takes the place of the weekly Sermon Tidbits previously posted to the Facebook page.

Filmed and edited entirely in-house, each Take2 video is presented in two short segments. The two- to five-minute "shorts" are designed to grab a viewer's attention and speak to them in a warm, conversational tone they will find appealing and engaging.

All Saints' 25th Anniversary logo is displayed in print and online. "The logo's design honors the past while looking towards the future with a modern look that works in concert with the new branding strategy," said Heidi Steward, secretary of media and community outreach, "It isn't typical of the media presented to an older congregation."

More changes made to honor the spirit of the next 25 years include a new business card with a fresh look and feel. It both conveys important contact information and has ample space to leave a note to the recipient adding a more personalized touch.

Also in the works is a new brochure which will be available in print and online as a downloadable pdf. As with all the current media, it is being developed in-house and speaks to the unreached part of the community by answering some basic questions about what it means to be a Lutheran, and who All Saints is as a congregation. The design is meant to be inviting and work hand-in-hand with other media in both hard copy and digital formats.

All Saints is shepherded by Pastor Dave Wesche. ■

Pray Me a Rainbow Children's Book Proceeds Benefit International Adoptions

With lilting rhyme and sweet illustrations, a little girl's bedtime prayer as presented in the book Pray Me a Rainbow counts the gifts of each day by color.

Illustrator Stephanie Schulz of Tallahassee, FL, collaborated with her daughter Jessemyn Pekari on the book. This is their first book together.

"My daughter and I are both LCMS pastor's wives," said Schulz, whose husband Mark is pastor of Epiphany / Tallahassee. Pekari's husband serves in the New England District.

"All the profit from the sale of the book is pledged to international adoption," Schulz continued. "We have two granddaughters from China and a grandson coming this summer."

Pray Me a Rainbow includes a bonus page with ideas for parents and educators to use the text in creative ways to help young ones pray as they learn their colors.

Schulz works with students in her private art studio, Art in Hand. Pekari cares for her five children and spends her extra hours as an adoption advocate. The book is available on Amazon. ■

Faith Lecanto

During the past 25 years, Faith / Lecanto has grown from a small gathering of worshippers in borrowed rooms to a vibrant parish with an active and growing ministry. It all started with a unique gift that had a challenging string attached.

Pastor Steve Lane at the piano in the sanctuary of Faith Lutheran Church in Lecanto (Citrus County).

Faith's original 25 members and founders began worshipping in 1990 at a local funeral home. The opportunity to grow and establish a permanent home soon followed.

"We had land donated to us, but we had to use it within one year," said Marlene Griffin, one of the church's original members. "We said, 'Yeah, we'll take it.'"

The land was in Lecanto's Crystal Glen subdivision. The members established a building fund and began planning their church. Membership, and the fund, took off, and on Christmas Eve 1993, the church celebrated its first service in the new sanctuary.

"The fire trucks were out front because we didn't have the sprinkler system in yet," recalled Griffin. "The firemen came in to worship with us. It was really nice."

Skip ahead a quarter century and that original sanctuary serves as the fellowship hall. Faith built a new sanctuary in 2005 to serve its growing congregation. The church's 180-plus members hail from all over Citrus County and now participate in Faith's worship, music, Bible studies, quilting groups, movie nights and potluck dinners.

Both Griffin and fellow founding member Marlene Nordquist agree that building the church in such a short period of time had its share of challenges. But Nordquist never doubted they would succeed.

"I didn't have any fear of where we were going to get the money or how we were going to pay for this," she said. "I knew we were going to do it, and we did."

"A heart from God, a heart for others" reads the church's mission, something its members live by, according to Rev. Stephen Lane, Faith's pastor since 2010.

"These members are dedicated to connecting people to Jesus," he said. "One of the things I love about this church is our outreach to the community. We give regularly to local charities; in fact, the church takes 10% of what we take in and we give it away."

Continued outreach to the congregation and the community is the main goal for Faith. ■

St. John Ocala Students "Walk in Truth"

Each morning of National Lutheran School Week, students from K3-12th grade of St. John / Ocala gathered for devotions focusing on the theme "Walk in Truth," based on 3 John 1:4.

Games and student writings supported the theme. Relay races of different types of walks related to the theme about the example presented by Christ. During the week every student's and teacher's foot was traced, with cutouts used to fashion a huge cross showing how collectively all are walking in the same truth of the cross of Jesus.

Service projects brought in church members to work alongside students on cleanup projects around campus and for a prayer walk. High school students helped those in the elementary classes with a thank you craft for St. John congregational members to hand out at the church services that weekend. ■

THE GOOD SAMARITAN AWARD is bestowed annually by Lutheran Services Florida to honor those who follow the teachings of Christ as illustrated in the parable in Luke 10:25-37. These individuals are honored not so much for the work they do within their own churches, but for the work they do that takes place beyond the walls of the church. Among those recognized this year at the February 22 Good Samaritan Dinner for Central Florida were Megan Galanback, Zion New Life / Winter Garden; Betty Matthias, Hope / Orlando; Lorenzo Phillips, Trinity / Downtown Orlando; Gwen Taliver, Prince of Peace / Orlando; and Paula Bass, St. Luke's / Oviedo.

CRAFTY QUILTERS of Ascension / Casselberry presented nine quilts to Redeeming Life Maternity Home / Sanford to be shared with the facility's residents. Founded by Rev. Ed and Sheryl DeWitt, Redeeming Life provides a safe, Christ-centered home for single expectant mothers in crisis. The home is located across the street from Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, where DeWitt serves as pastor. Redeeming Life Maternity Home opened in November 2013.

Faith Varsity Boys Team Takes First-Time Trip to National Tourney

For the first time in school history, the Faith / Eustis varsity boys basketball team participated in the Annual Lutheran Basketball Association of America National Tournament at Valparaiso University. The four-day 2015 tourney opened March 19.

A first-round loss was followed by a victory that sent the Crusaders on to the consolation bracket. In their third game of the tournament, Faith met familiar opponent Saint Michael / Fort Myers, FL. The Crusaders' tournament play ended with a defeat in that contest, while Saint Michael went on to play two more games before their year ended.

According to Faith Coach Jeremy Fritz, the tournament was an incredible experience for the team.

"Besides playing basketball, they were able to visit the University of Notre Dame, go to the Albanese Candy Factory in Merrillville and visit downtown Chicago," he said. "The boys were also able to participate in the opening ceremonies for the national tournament, with more than 1,000 boys and girls either playing basketball or cheerleading.

"We also had the privilege of worshipping at Immanuel

Amigos Center Outreach Aids Community

More than 600 Immokalee farmworkers and their families received free medical attention at the health fair hosted by Amigos Center earlier this year.

“Thanks to the work and planning of 120 volunteer doctors, nurses and helpers from Auditorio de la Fe Church in Pembroke Pines, hundreds of people who rarely if ever see the inside of a doctor’s office received free dental care, new eyeglasses and medical consultations,” said Rev. Robert Selle, Amigos Center founder and CEO.

“The group also offered free haircuts, live music, food and clothing. We can’t wait for them to return.”

Founded in 1999 to help answer the physical, mental, and emotional needs that many immigrant families face, Amigos Center’s outreach has branched out to offer legal immigration services. What started with three part-time employees and one location has grown to span two counties, with offices in Naples, Bonita Springs, Fort Myers and Immokalee. ■

Cheapskate Ball Generates Funds for Youth

"There were three men and three women chosen from the group who we knew spent little or no money on their outfits, then the crowd voted." Pastor James Weist won the cheapskate award for the men's group, and Terri Lawson won for the women's group. Paul Sohlden won the dance contest and was awarded a trophy as well. ■

"The Red Carpet" was the theme of the Second Annual Cheapskate Ball hosted by Epiphany / Lake Worth earlier this year.

Designed as a fundraiser for EPIC – Epiphany's youth group – the event was hosted by Youth Leaders Sean and Colleen Cannon, who were crowned King and Queen of the Ball. EPIC members worked as wait staff, photographers and photo booth managers. A DJ provided the music.

"The idea was not to spend money, but to raise money," said Debbie Einsteder of Epiphany's Board of Fellowship. "Everyone was encouraged to look deep in their closets for prom dresses, wedding dresses, leisure suits, etc. Or head over to Goodwill or Salvation Army."

Faith, Church Family Help Our Savior/ Plantation Family Recover from Fire

When a fire destroyed their home last November 15, Neville and Dorothy Morrison and their children — Emily, 16; Steven, 17; and Lauren, 24 — were left homeless. All family members were safe, as were the two family dogs; unfortunately the two Morrison cats did not survive.

The night of the fire the family found shelter at a neighbor's home. The next morning, a Sunday, Neville and Emily drove to their church — Our Savior / Plantation — to let members and staff know why they had not been at the 8am service as usual. Their absence was noted: Neville is often a communion assistant, both he and Dorothy are involved with the youth group and Steven plays bass for the Praise Team.

Neville and Emily were surrounded by church members as retired Pastor Edwin Nicklas led a prayer.

“By midafternoon we had several people stop by and drop stuff off. Notebooks and pens for the kids, clothes, food, and money,” said Dorothy. “It was just unbelievable.”

The Morrisons stayed in a hotel a few nights courtesy of the American Red Cross before a family member who is a realtor expedited their move into a fully-furnished rental house in the same neighborhood.

Assistance continued to pour in from Our Savior members, including more than $13,000 in donations. Nancy Volz, the congregation's director of finance, contacted Thrivent Financial and told them about situation while Jan Withers, the church's administrative assistant, pulled together a Thrivent action team to help the family.

On January 11, the Morrisons received a $2,500 check from Thrivent Financial.

As part of the action team project, the church hosted a luncheon in honor of the Morrisons on Sunday, February 8, offering the family the opportunity to share their thanks for all the help and support. “You have truly proven that we are one body in Christ,” said Neville. “It is a blessing to have you all as part of our family.”

“God has been listening and acting upon your prayers,” added Dorothy.

The Morrison house is being rebuilt – and assistance continues. ■

Saint Michael Honored as “Exemplary” Lutheran School

Saint Michael Lutheran School float “Noah’s Ark” received first place in the 2015 Edison Parade.

Saint Michael / Fort Myers was one of five outstanding Lutheran schools in the United States selected by the National Lutheran Accreditation Commission for special recognition as exemplary accredited schools.

These schools demonstrated compliance with accreditation criteria that exceeded expectations as well as innovative leadership through the implementation of best practices related to the academic quality and spiritual development of the students.

Leaders of the honored schools will now be required to intentionally share their “Best Practices” with other Lutheran schools during the 2015-16 school year, providing opportunities and ideas that have the potential to improve all schools.

Founded in 1956, Saint Michael serves students from pre-kindergarten through eighth grade. Saint Michael has been designated a National Blue Ribbon School, an honor bestowed by the United States Secretary of Education on America’s outstanding public and private schools.

This latest honor caps Principal Bob Ziegler’s service at Saint Michael; he is leaving in June to join the LCMS’ Nebraska District as its education executive. He has been active at the Synodical and District levels, including recent service on the Florida-Georgia Board of Directors as a Commissioned Minister Representative. Ziegler was honored as Lutheran Educator Association’s 2006 Distinguished Lutheran Elementary Administrator. ■
